MERCHANT PRINCE GOES TO LONG REST

Marshall Field's Life Was One Great Success.

Richest Merchant in the World and Leaves About Two Hundred Million.

THE FUNERAL FRIDAY AT NOON

New York, Jan. 17.—Marshall Field, the millionaire Chicago merchant, who died at the Holland house at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon after eight days' illness of pneumonia, died peacefully while members of the family, who had been in almost constant attendance for several days were gathered around the deathbed. They, as well as the dying merchant himself, were prepared for the end.

Mr. Field was unconscious for three hours before his death.

Those present were: Mrs. Marshall Field, Mrs. Marshall Field, Jr., Augustus N. Eddy, Catherine Eddy, Mrs. Henry Dillie, Robert T. Lincoln and Mrs. Preston Gibson.

Mr. Field's illness developed about a week ago while he and Mrs. Field were on their way from Chicago to this city.

During Sunday night he appeared to be sinking rapidly and Monday morning the physicians announced that all hope for his recovery had been abandoned.

For hours there was no appreciable change and the tiny strand which held him was expected to break at any moment. Suddenly, however, about mid-afternoon there came a remarkable change. Strength which gradually had slipped away from the patient seemed suddenly to be rushing back. He looked up and smiled, asked for a drink and then sank into a peaceful, restful sleep.

His condition continued to become more desperate with every moment, however, and by noon yesterday the last ray of hope was gone. At two o'clock it was announced the patient was sinking steadily and at 3:30 word came from the sick room that Field had only a few minutes more to live. Death at four o'clock with members of the family gathered at the bedside.

Marshall Field was the greatest and most successful merchant of this generation and was one of the world's richest men, his wealth being estimated at two hundred million dollars.

He was born in Conway, Mass., in 1855 and educated in the public school there. At the age of 17 he became a clerk in a country store in Pittsfield, Mass. He came to Chicago in 1880 and became a clerk in the wholesale dry goods establishment of Cooley, Wadsworth & Co. becoming a partner four years later. In 1865 he and Levi Z. Leiter withdrew from that firm and with Potter Palmer formed a new organization, Palmer withdrew in 1867 and Leiter in 1881 when the firm became known as Marshall Field & Co., as it is today. The house grew rapidly and it is now the largest enterprise in the world, having numerous branches throughout Europe and Asia. Its remarkable success is attributed almost entirely to Field and his methods. He made it a rule never to borrow money and never issue notes, paying cash for everything. The great fire of 1871 was the only reverse ever experienced by Marshall Field & Co., its losses at that time aggregating over one million. In 1872 the wholesale department was separated from the retail store and the latter now covers two city squares and is located in buildings twelve stories in height.

At the close of the world's fair in 1893 Field endowed with one million dollars Field's Columbian museum for which a home valued at eight million is shortly to be erected. He gave the University of Chicago land valued at four hundred and fifty thousand dollars to be used for athletic purposes and a portion of it is known today as Marshall Field. He was extremely charitable in other directions, never failing to contribute to a cause he knew to be worthy.

In politics he never interfered, although he was always ready to aid with time and money any movement looking towards a better national or municipal government. He was several times offered the vice-presidential nomination of the Democratic ticket but refused to accept. Mr.

GOOD HEALTH

OF PADUCAH CAUSES COMMENT
AMONG DOCTORS.

Very Little Sickness—Suspected
Cause of Smallpox Not the Real Malady.

The good health of the city at present is the subject of comment among the doctors. They say there is hardly any sickness just now, and one physician announced with glee to a brother physician this morning that he had one call today. He is one of the most prominent physicians in the city with a large practice.

Dr. W. T. Graves said there have been 10 cases of scarlet fever in the city since August 1st, but there are only about six or eight at present. He said about eight of the cases since August were traceable to the schools. There was only one death from the fever and that was a complicated case.

There have only been four cases of diphtheria since August 1st, and one death, and no smallpox at the post house since last September. A suspected case of smallpox was found yesterday and removed to the post house, but Dr. Graves says it is not smallpox.

Few Railroad Accidents.

There has been a perceptible decrease in the amount of illness and number of accidents in the railroad service the past year, and the local I. C. railroad hospital has never before since it was built experienced such dull times generally.

Formerly several accidents daily were not infrequent, but nowadays it is seldom that an accident is heard of, and then it is usually of minor importance. The officials attribute the conspicuous absence of serious accidents to the fact that many improvements have been made the road to preclude accidents of all kinds.

ACTOR SHOT

Had Trouble in a Saloon Over a Woman—One Killed.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Joseph Brennan and Michael Walsh, actors, fought early today over a woman in a saloon and Brennan was shot and probably fatally wounded in the abdomen. Walsh was arrested and witnesses corroborate the prisoner's story that he shot in self-defense.

Field was twice married, his first wife having died several years ago leaving two children, Ethel, now married and residing in England, and Marshall Field, Jr., who recently accidentally shot himself and died September 5th last. Mr. Field was married recently in London to Mrs. Caton, widow of Arthur Caton, of this city.

Marshall Field's Funeral Friday.
Chicago, Jan. 17.—The body of Marshall Field, which left New York this morning, will arrive at Chicago Thursday forenoon.

The funeral services will take place Friday at noon. The Field wholesale and retail establishments in Chicago and branches throughout the world, were closed this morning until Saturday.

Versailles, Jan. 17.—The French senate and chamber of deputies, constituting the national assembly, met today at the palace in Versailles to elect a new president of the republic to succeed M. Loubet, whose term expires February 18.

Popular influence has no weight in determining the choice for head of the republic. The two houses of the general assembly convene as a sort of electoral college without a popular vote being cast. A large crowd witnessed the election.

Elaborate precautions were taken by the police to guard against an outrage in the chamber by anarchists.

Clement Amund, Paillieres was elected president of the republic.

ONLY ONE VOTE.

In Favor of Senator Depew Resigning His Job.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 17.—The state senate yesterday defeated by a vote of 24 to 1 Senator Trickett's resolution requesting the resignation of United States Senator Chauncey M. Depew.

The democrats were excused from voting. Senator Trickett alone supported the resolution. This action followed a long debate opened by Senator Trickett in a speech of an hour and a quarter, in which he scathingly attacked Senator Depew with an incidental denunciation of Senator Thomas C. Platt.

MIDSHIPMAN QUILTS.

Life at Annapolis Is Becoming Too
Strenuous For Meriwether.

Annapolis Md., Jan. 17.—Midshipman Meriwether, Jr., has handed in his resignation from the naval academy.

Branch received fatal injuries.

CANNOT SERVE

IS WHAT COMMITTEE WILL RE-
PORT IN REGARD TO TRUS-
TEE BYRD.

Nothing in Effort to Declare President Williamson Ineligible.

It is understood that the board of Education committee appointed to investigate the question of Mr. Will T. Byrd's eligibility as a school trustee has decided Mr. Byrd cannot serve. Mr. Byrd was elected from the Fifth ward, but before he qualified was sworn in as a deputy county clerk under Clerk Hiram Smedley. Members of the board of education suggested that he fail to qualify as a school trustee until the board of county supervisors finishes its work. Mr. Byrd being a deputy clerk only during the sitting of the board, but he desired to vote at the election of officers of the school board recently and insisted on qualifying.

The decision that he cannot serve is not without precedent, as in Louisville a few days ago where a school trustee was appointed a deputy county assessor it was decided that he could not hold both offices, and he preferred the one on the school board and gave up the other.

Some of the democrats, Mr. Byrd being one of the two democrats elected at the recent election, claim they will try to have President H. P. Williamson declared ineligible because he is a pension examiner, a mere clerical government position, but it has been tried before and failed, and as the board of education is the own judge of the qualification of its members, will probably fail now, if attempted.

The committee is composed of Trustees List, Morris and Miller, and it was appointed by Trustee P. J. Heckenbaugh while the latter was presiding over the board recently.

"No, I am not ready to turn over my office just yet," said Dr. Harry Williamson, president of the school board, today when twitted about the article in one of the papers stating that his eligibility to his office would probably be brought up before the board. "This matter was threshed over by the board last year, and the decision given in my favor, and was again brought up this year and investigated and it was decided I was entitled to my seat in the board."

Dr. Williamson holds an appointment as pension examiner from the government, and it was suggested last year that this position made him ineligible for his position in the school board. There is no salary attached to the position of pension examiner. The board meets the first Wednesday in every month and applicants go before it, and for those Dr. Williamson examines he gets a fee of $2, as he would in any other medical case. If there are no applicants, he gets nothing.

When this matter was before the board last year two democrats, Joe Mattison and C. W. Morrison, voted with the Republicans to send Dr. Williamson.

Elected at Joint Session.

Frankfort Ky., Jan. 17.—Judge Thomas Paynter was again today elected United States senator, at a joint session of the two houses.

BALLARD COUNTY CASE TALKED OF

Sensational and Conflicting Reports are in Circulation.

Dr. Payne and Albert Tittsworth
Have an Encounter in Road
Near Bandana.

WHAT HAPPENED IN DISPUTE.

Sensational and conflicting reports have been in circulation for several days in regard to a difficulty between Dr. James Payne and Albert Tittsworth, well-known citizens of near Bandana Ballard county. The Sun today received from a reputable man over the telephone, both sides of the case, which are given its readers as they were given to the paper.

Recently, it is alleged, Dr. Payne sued Tittsworth for $8 for professional services. The plaintiff won the case, which angered Tittsworth. Last Saturday about 11 o'clock, about half a mile out of Bandana, it is alleged, the two men met and held a "conference." What is was, and what the result of it was, may never be known, as no one else was there and they tell very different stories about it.

Dr. Payne is alleged to claim that Tittsworth ran up, jumped in the back of his buggy, and at the point of a pistol compelled him, the doctor, to sign a paper stating that Tittsworth did not owe the $8 for which he was sued, and that the debt was not a just one, and he wanted the public to know the facts about it. He raised his hand and Tittsworth struck him with the pistol and broke a bone in his finger. Dr. Payne claims Tittsworth, according to the latter, also compelled him to give up his watch and instrument case. No claim is made by Dr. Payne. It is understood, that Tittsworth made him get out of the buggy, disrobe and walk in the mud, as one report stated.

Tittsworth's story is entirely different. He admits that he encountered Dr. Payne on the road, and climbed in the back of the buggy. He denies that he had a pistol or displayed one or threatened the doctor with one. He declares that the statements the doctor signed were signed voluntarily, and that the instrument case and watch were voluntarily given him, Tittsworth, by Dr. Payne, as a guarantee that the cost of the suit would be paid by Dr. Payne.

Both agree that they met and went up a lane some distance from the main road, it is said, but their statements cannot be reconciled as to what happened afterward. The case against Tittsworth, who was arrested, will be tried Friday at Bandana.

Both men are prominent. Dr. Payne is a son of Dr. S. T. Payne, formerly of Paducah, and is a brother of Mr. S. T. Payne, of La Center.

Tittsworth is a prominent young man who stands high and could furnish a $50,000 bond if necessary. It is said, he was almost raised by Mr. F. G. Randolph, of the city.

Versailles, Jan. 17.—The French senate and chamber of deputies, constituting the national assembly, met today at the palace in Versailles to elect a new president of the republic to succeed M. Loubet, whose term expires February 18.

Popular influence has no weight in determining the choice for head of the republic. The two houses of the general assembly convene as a sort of electoral college without a popular vote being cast. A large crowd witnessed the election.

Elaborate precautions were taken by the police to guard against an outrage in the chamber by anarchists.

Clement Aurnaud Fulleres was elected president of the republic.

The democrats were excused from voting. Senator Brackett alone supported the resolution. This action followed a long debate opened by Senator Brackett in a speech of an hour and a quarter, in which he scathingly attacked Senator Depew with an incidental denunciation of Senator Thomas C. Platt.

MIDSHIPMAN QUILTS.

Life at Annapolis is Becoming Too
Strenuous For Meriwether.

Annapolis Md., Jan. 17.—Midshipman Meriwether, Jr., has handed in his resignation from the naval academy.

Branch received fatal injuries.

CANNOT SERVE

IS WHAT COMMITTEE WILL RE-
PORT IN REGARD TO TRUS-
TEE BYRD.

Nothing in Effort to Declare President Williamson Ineligible.

It is understood that the Board of Education committee appointed to investigate the question of Mr. Will T. Byrd's eligibility as a school trustee has decided Mr. Byrd cannot serve. Mr. Byrd was elected from the Fifth ward, but before he qualified was sworn in as a deputy county clerk under Clerk Hiram Smedley. Members of the board of education suggested that he fail to qualify as a school trustee until the board of county supervisors finishes its work. Mr. Byrd being a deputy clerk only during the sitting of the board, but he desired to vote at the election of officers of the school board recently and insisted on qualifying.

The decision that he cannot serve is not without precedent, as in Louisville a few days ago where a school trustee was appointed a deputy county assessor it was decided that he could not hold both offices, and he preferred the one on the school board and gave up the other.

Some of the Democrats, Mr. Byrd being one of the two Democrats elected at the recent election, claim they will try to have President H. P. Williamson declared ineligible because he is a pension examiner, a mere clerical government position, but it has been tried before and failed, and as the board of education is the own judge of the qualification of its members, will probably fail now, if attempted.

The committee is composed of Trustees List, Morris and Miller, and it was appointed by Trustee P. J. Hickenbaugh while the latter was presiding over the board recently.

"No, I am not ready to turn over my office just yet," said Dr. Harry Williamson, president of the school board, today when twitted about the article in one of the papers stating that his eligibility to his office would probably be brought up before the board. "This matter was threshed over by the board last year, and the decision given in my favor, and was again brought up this year and investigated and it was decided I was entitled to my seat in the board."

Dr. Williamson holds an appointment as pension examiner from the government, and it was suggested last year that this position made him ineligible for his position in the school board. There is no salary attached to the position of pension examiner. The board meets the first Wednesday in every month and applicants go before it, and for those Dr. Williamson examines he gets a fee of $2, as he would in any other medical case. If there are no applicants, he gets nothing.

When this matter was before the board last year two Democrats, Joe Mattison and C. W. Morrison, voted with the Republicans to seat Dr. Williamson.

Elected at Joint Session.

Frankfort Ky., Jan. 17.—Judge Thomas Paynter was again today elected United States senator, at a joint session of the two houses.

BALLARD COUNTY CASE TALKED OF

Sensational and Conflicting Reports are in Circulation.

Dr. Payne and Albert Tittsworth
Have an Encounter in Road
Near Bandana.

WHAT HAPPENED IN DISPUTE.

Sensational and conflicting reports have been in circulation for several days in regard to a difficulty between Dr. James Payne and Albert Tittsworth, well-known citizens of near Bandana Ballard county. The Sun today received from a reputable man over the telephone, both sides of the case, which are given its readers as they were given to the paper.

Recently, it is alleged, Dr. Payne sued Tittsworth for $8 for professional services. The plaintiff won the case, which angered Tittsworth. Last Saturday about 11 o'clock, about half a mile out of Bandana, it is alleged, the two men met and held a "conference." What was, and what the result of it was, may never be known, as no one else was there and they tell very different stories about it.

Dr. Payne is alleged to claim that Tittsworth ran up, jumped in the back of his buggy, and at the point of a pistol compelled him, the doctor, to sign a paper stating that Tittsworth did not owe the $8 for which he was sued, and that the debt was not a just one, and he wanted the public to know the facts about it. He raised his hand and Tittsworth struck him with the pistol and broke a bone in his finger, Dr. Payne claims Tittsworth, according to the latter, also compelled him to give up his watch and instrument case. No claim is made by Dr. Payne, it is understood, that Tittsworth made him get out of the buggy, disrobe and fall in the mud, as one report stated.

Tittsworth's story is entirely different. He admits that he encountered Dr. Payne on the road, and climbed in the back of the buggy. He denies that he had a pistol or displayed one or threatened the doctor with one. He declares that the statements the doctor signed were signed voluntarily, and that the instrument case and watch were voluntarily given him, Tittsworth, by Dr. Payne, as a guarantee that the cost of the suit would be paid by Dr. Payne.

Both agree that they met and went up a fine some distance from the main road, it is said, but their statements cannot be reconciled as to what happened afterward. The case against Tittsworth, who was arrested, will be tried Friday at Bandana.

Both men are prominent. Dr. Payne is a son of Dr. S. T. Payne, formerly of Paducah, and is a brother of Mr. S. T. Payne, of La Center.

Tittsworth is a prominent young man who stands high and could furnish a $50,000 bond if necessary. It is said. He was almost raised by Mr. F. G. Rudolph, of the city.

A Toronto dispatch says she left the King Edward Hotel because Manager Dalley would not allow her to take her pet dog, "Sport," an English bull, into her apartments. Dalley was willing to have the dog put in the kennels in connection with the hotel, but this would not do, and Miss Elliott left the hotel.

Phoebe Davis, who is playing in another theatre in the city, had to leave the hotel a few days ago for the same reason.

The people of the United States are beginning to grasp the possibilities of transportation on improved rivers. Some things have happened already or are going forward that are scarcely understood in their full significance. It was stated in a recent address before the American Geographical society that the river tonnage out of Pittsburg, Pa., exceeds that of the Suez canal. Much of this fact is a comparatively local system of river improvements which have been built by the government on the Ohio river and its tributaries through the efforts of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association, which will greatly improve the commerce in the Ohio river valley.—Courier-Journal.

GOOD BUSINESS.

On account of the low rates being offered to home-seekers in the west, the I. C. is doing all the passenger business it can well handle.

WHAT DO YOU CARE? YOU'VE GOT YOUR HEALTH.

Great Natures Do Not Despair at Disappointment—They Look For Something Else to Do.

The broad-gauged man of today does not get blue just because things don't always come his way unless there is something the matter with him. If he "falls down" on one proposition he immediately starts to look up another. He always looks forward and keeps on hustling. A man with his health and faculties has plenty of opportunities and the man who gives up or even feels like it has either a small nature or some physical weakness.

Dyspepsia certainly puts the best of men out of condition for work of any kind. You cannot blame the dyspeptic for getting blue. The very nature of his disease is most depressing and calculated to deprive him of ambition, energy and hope. There is hope for him, however, certain and sure.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are recognized throughout the length and breadth of the land as the one cure that is safe and sure. Their unbounded popularity—resulting from the thousands and thousands of cures they have effected, prove beyond the shadow of a doubt their greatness as a cure. Wherein lies their greatness? In the very fact that they are Nature's own simple remedy. They do the exact work in exactly the same way that the digestive fluids of the stomach do because they are composed of exactly the same elements and possess the same properties. They relieve the weak and worn out stomach of its burden of digestion and permit it without let or hindrance to rest and grow sound and well. The stomach will get well quick enough in its own natural way, if it is let alone. That is what Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do. They not only let it alone themselves but make the food taken into the stomach do the same.

You can satisfy yourself of the truth of this statement by putting the food you would eat into a glass jar with sufficient water and one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. The process of digestion will be taken up and carried out just as the gastric juice and other digestive fluids would do it. Their action is natural and they cause no disturbance in the digestive organs. In fact you forget you have a stomach when they begin to do their work, so mild and natural is the operation. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50c a box.

700 people were aboard the train. The morning train arriving at 3:30 o'clock was late and running in two sections on account of the overflow in passenger traffic. The first section did not take any passengers, but the second section did. Very little baggage and few passengers were able to board the second section.

BIG INCREASE

In the Coal Business of the I. C. on Louisville Division.

The coal business on the Paducah district of the I. C. is enormous and is growing rapidly.

This year twelve new mines were opened in the district embraced by the Louisville division of the road, Paducah district, and all the coal cars possible to secure are used in moving the coal. In fact the I. C. could use several hundred cars in addition to those now in service. The end gates were placed in ballast cars to use in the coal service and every car possible to draft into this service is being seized.

TWO OTHER CITIES MAY JOIN THE KITTY

This Would Make It an Eight-Club League.

R. E. Powers Returns From a Successful Trip Over the Proposed Chicago.

THE LATEST BASEBALL DOPE

R. E. Powers has returned to Cairo after making a circuit of the three new towns proposed to be taken into the Kitty league, and reports success in his efforts to organize.

Powers visited Danville, Jacksonville and East St. Louis, Ill., and in each town was enthusiastically received. Marion, Ill., and Mattoon, Ill., also want to come in and have been invited to the meeting to be held on the 28th, at the Jefferson hotel in St. Louis.

It has been suggested that East St. Louis be dropped and Mattoon, Ill., substituted, because of the economy in mileage, and this matter will be taken up at the St. Louis meeting. Marion is very anxious to get in and offered to deposit $1,000 that the town would play out this season.

Dan McCarty, of Cairo, and Angelo Marre offer to take one-third of the stock each in the Danville corporation, leaving one-third for the citizens, or to leave the matter of subscribing stock out of the question.

A great deal is being published in all the papers on the new circuit about the league, and baseball is on the boom.

Thos. Danville, Ill., Commercial Press says:

"At the opening of the meeting the understanding was given Powers that this city in no way desired a team which would be forced to drag out a miserable existence at the end of the league because of a lack of good players, and to this he said: 'On the reserve list in the president's desk at this time are the signatures of eighty men who will be distributed to the three new towns entering the league, Danville, Jacksonville and East St. Louis. To Danville we offer the choice of any thirty men whom you shall choose and from these you may select your team.'"

The Cairo Bulletin adds:

"A prominent gentleman from Marion, Ill., was here yesterday pleading for a chance for his city. He agreed to give a guarantee that the share of a visiting team receipts should be $20 more than the constitution provides. He also offered to deposit $1,000 that the city would flush out the season. He was told to come prepared to talk business at the St. Louis meeting. This makes with Mattoon, eight cities for the Kitty league.

"Cairo will make good the pledge made by Dick Powers. The three new members can have the pick of players so far signed with the exception of Angelo Marre, and further, all correspondence from good men will be turned over to them so they can have an even break at the start. Evenly matched, well balanced teams is what the league needs to make a success out of it, and anything that Cairo can do at the start she will willingly do, but after the start she will be out for blood, neither asking nor giving quarters."

NERVOUS?

Do you worry about nothing? Startle at trifles? Feel irritable, peevish, sad and blue? Suffer from neuralgia, sick headache, dizziness, backache, bearing-down pains? If so, your nerves are stretched to the snapping point, like the strings of a fiddle twisted up out of tune, which screeches at the least touch. You are in a dangerous condition of health and need a medicine to take the strain off your nerves. If you are a woman, what has overstrung you is probably disordered menstruality, which, in women, makes more trouble, pain and nerve sickness than any other single cause. The thing to do is to follow the example, being set daily by thousands of women, and take the good, old, reliable remedy for female disease, with a record of 70 years of success, in the cure of female diseases, viz:

DUNNE'S BAD BREAK CAUSES TROUBLE

Chicago Council Wants Retraction or Impeachment.

The Mayor in a Denver Speech Insinuated Bad Things About Windy City Officials.

THE CASE NOT YET SETTLED.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 17.—In the most dramatic meeting of the city council that has been held in many years, Mayor Dunne came into conflict with the legislative body in such manner that, if the clash be carried to its final alternative, either the mayor will be impeached for impugning the integrity of the aldermen or the majority of the city council will be shown up as corruptionists in their dealings with the traction companies.

In a speech at Denver Friday night Mayor Dunne declared that the cause of municipal ownership is suffering in Chicago because there are malign influences at work to thwart the carrying out of the will of the people. These influences, he charged, were being brought to bear by the traction companies on the city council.

Scarcely had the council got itself into working order than Alderman Foreman produced a copy of a local paper and had it presented to the mayor. "I hand you a copy of a paper containing an account of a speech said to have been made by you in Denver, Mr. Mayor, and I should like to know if you are correctly quoted in that speech."

The mayor was seemingly not prepared for the incident, for his face blanched and the paper shook in his extended hands.

"I have read this account of my speech," said the mayor, recovering his composure, "and I wish to say that in the main I have been correctly quoted."

Alderman Bennett offered a resolution to the effect that, until the mayor should retract the statements attributed to him and apologize to the council, he be no longer allowed to preside over that body.

The resolution was referred to the judiciary committee.

PACIFIC OUTCOME

IS EXPECTED IN THE GERMAN-FRENCH CONTROVERSY.

The Congress Has Convened and Many Powers of the Earth Are Represented.

Algiers, Jan. 17.—The international congress to determine the future position of Morocco and the Eastern situation brought about by Germany's objection to France's paramount position in the country, opened here this afternoon. The United States, the European powers and Morocco are represented.

Peaceful Outcome Expected.

Paris, Jan. 17.—Confidence in a pacific outcome of the Algerian conference, even if no entente is reached on the subject of Morocco, is felt in France in official circles. A leading diplomat in an interview with your correspondent today, evidently giving an inspired opinion, said:

"If the conference ends in a rupture, further negotiations regarding Morocco will certainly be necessary in another form, but nothing at the present moment justifies the alarm or belief that war with Germany will follow."

BUDWEISER

In Glass from the Kettle to the Lip

Budweiser as it leaves the brew kettles is conveyed into Glass-Enameled fermenting vats. After fermentation it is lagered (aged) from four to five months in Glass-Lined Steel Tanks before it is bottled. 200 mammoth Glass Tanks in this building (Stock House No. 10) are required for this purpose. The capacity of these tanks is 200,000 barrels or 62,000,000 bottles of Budweiser.

Budweiser is, therefore, in Glass from the time it is brewed until it is consumed.

This huge building, 347 feet long, 98 feet wide and 7 stories high, contains:

200 mammoth Glass Enameled Steel Tanks used solely for the lagering (ageing) of Budweiser.

Each Glass Tank weighs 16 Tons, is 70 feet long, 9 feet in diameter, and holds 1,000 barrels of beer.

The combined capacity of the 200 tanks is 200,000 Barrels, or 62,000,000 Bottles of Budweiser.

These Glass Enameled Steel Tanks were manufactured and installed by at a cost of over half a million dollars.

It required eight months' time to manufacture them, and over five miles of freight cars to deliver them to the Brewery.

This however is only the first installment. The proved superiority of glass over wood for the lagering and storing of Beer has decided the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Ass'n to equip the entire brewery with these Glass Enameled Tanks.

There is no death! What seems so is transition.—Longfellow.

FIDELITY OF THE PRESS.

It has been remarked that in the great battle going on to reform abuses in life insurance the press of the country has been vigorously faithful to the interests of the people, says the Globe-Democrat. The class engaged in wronging the many by the various schemes of "high finance" found some aid and comfort in every direction except among the newspapers. Every journal in New York stood by the investigating committee and promptly published the facts developed without fear or favor. In the recent contest in Philadelphia against a corrupt political ring every daily paper except one rose above falsified party lines and assisted to secure an honest administration of city affairs. Publicity is recognized as a powerful weapon and safeguard, but unless based on the sort of integrity that is indomitably true right principles and quick to fight for them, publicity would work on the side of evil. If lobbyists could control the press as easily as they engage unscrupulous legal help, or that of venal legislators, the people would look in vain for a champion outside of their own collective strength. In the newspapers there has been only one voice on the insurance question, and that is for thorough reform, together with a demand for the punishment of all who have violated their trust. A journal that attempted to defend the insurance crookedness, or obscure the issue, would lose its character, if it had any.

The wise men who framed the constitution of the United States took pains to place a bulwark around the liberty of the press. They knew by experience, as well as inherent intelligence, that the liberty of the press is a vital part of the liberty of the people. Conspirators against the people would always corrupt the press if they could, and, failing in that, would gag it or break upon it the spite of baffled and detected dishonesty. The press in this country is an institution of the people and, in the long run, is what they choose it shall be. Yet it is also a commercial enterprise and might, temporarily at least depart from the high ideals it has hitherto maintained, and work a vast mischief before the people could apply corrective. No material tendency of that kind has appeared. The people are quick to perceive any wavering in favor of special interests, and the paper that exhibits it soon hears from the public, and in effective methods of protest. But in justice to the press it must be said that such offenders are extremely few. The American press is sound, independent and deals with the people's interests and deals with them in a fair and honest manner.

It is said that the financial departments published in the journals are prepared by speculators and promoters. That system is an instance of the danger connected with a press that does not descend from the high level of its true mission. The life insurance revelations in this country are but an opening chapter in a popular movement to strike down the power of golden graft and assert the rights of the masses in financial and business relations. Trusts and monopolies prey upon the multitude in many other shapes. Congress and the state legislatures must wrestle with the problem, for the people are aroused and resolved that justice shall be done. In regard to the full energetic support of the press the people have no misgiving. American newspapers are a marvel in cheapness combined with excellence. They go everywhere and are read everywhere. There are elsewhere no such close newspaper students as those of the United States, and nowhere else are the labors of the newspapers in behalf of the people as unswervingly zealous and incorruptibly high in tone.

A bill to place statues of Henry Clay and William Goebel in the Hall of Fame may not meet the approval of many Kentuckians who would choose otherwise, but there appears to be a determination to do it nevertheless if possible. If it is done, it will probably never be as much a source of regret in years to come to others, as to those misguided persons who make it possible.

Our little gaudy Paducah has already so grown in importance that she is called a "cruiser" in the dispatches.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

(Mayfield Messenger.)

E. L. Griggs, the barber, is spending a few days in Paducah.

Mrs. Richard Moore has gone to Paducah to visit her son, Mr. Dez Moore.

Mr. Jim Saunders, of near Hickman, is attending the bedside of his brother, Major G. W. Saunders, who was accidentally shot a few days ago.

Judge D. G. Park, of Paducah, spent the day in his law office here Monday looking after his law business. In this county. He still occupies his old office in the Park building and looks very much at home among our people.

Sallie Morgan, a woman about 47 years of age, was tried before Judge Ed Crossland Tuesday morning and adjudged of unsound mind. She was ordered sent to the Hopkinsville asylum and was accompanied by F. E. Webb and Will Waldrop. The cause of her condition is attributed to a paralytic stroke, of which she was a victim some time ago. She is a sister of Mrs. Earle, of Mayfield, and formerly lived in Calloway county.

(Murray Times.)

"Uncle" Wash Haley, one of the county's oldest and best citizens, died at his home near Locust Grove church last Friday night with pneumonia. He was about 80 years of age, and had lived in that community nearly his entire lifetime. Calloway had no better citizen. He leaves an aged companion, five sons and one daughter, together with a host of relatives and friends to mourn his departure. The remains were laid to rest in Salem cemetery Sunday.

"Grandma" Farmer, one of the oldest citizens of the county, died at the home of her son, Ewing, Monday of last week, aged 83 years. She was the widow of Rev. Carol Farmer, a prominent preacher in the Methodist church. She was known far and wide for her noble traits of character, and was the mother, grandmother and great-grandmother of the Farmer families of this county. The sons are: John W., James T., M. L., J. B., R. F., Ed and Ewing Farmer, and one daughter, Mrs. Carol Robertson. The remains were laid to rest in Martin's Chapel cemetery.

(Jackson, Tenn., Sun.)

Miss Oral Hackett was to have been the guest of Miss Bertha Walldill this week but was prevented from attending by a most unfortunate tragedy in her family.

Miss Hackett lives in Hickman, Ky. She had been to church with her uncle, Mr. Kennedy, last Tuesday night and on reaching home he was shot down by unknown parties. Miss Hackett was the nearest to him at the time of the shooting and will be compelled to appear at a preliminary trial today.

There are a number of friends of Miss Hackett in this city who will extend her their deepest sympathy in her trouble.

(Fulton Leader)

Miss May Hayes, of Paducah, is expected in the city tonight to be the guest of the Misses Heffey.

Farmers' Association at Owensboro Sells 1,102 Hhds.

A Storage Warehouse Is Proposed For Cadiz—Good Prices Are Prevailing.

CENTRAL KENTUCKY SALE GOOD

Owensboro, Ky., Jan. 17.—The finance committee of the American Society of Equity sold 1,102 hogsheads of pooled tobacco at an average of $9.25 for all grades.

This is estimated to be $10 for the A, B and C grades, $9 for the D grade and $8 for the H and O grades.

The sale was made to I. P. Harward, president of the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Association representing other parties, said to be the Continental Tobacco company.

The delivery is to be made at once. The total amount of the sale is in the neighborhood of 1,700,000 pounds, and represents all of the tobacco that was put up by Turpin & Wood at the Turpin & Wood house, the John Hughes house and the P. J. Miller house.

The tobacco is in the Louisville warehouse.

The sale is a little more than half of the tobacco that was pooled in the city and county last year, there remaining unsold 1,004 hogsheads.

The price is regarded as very satisfactory to the committee and it is thought the sale of all the tobacco will be made in a few days at prices that will be equally as satisfactory.

To Build Warehouse.

The Tobacco Growers' Association of Trigg county met at Cadiz. A committee was appointed to investigate alleged overcharges of warehousemen upon tobacco from that county and report back to the association, and also directed to investigate rebates by the warehousemen and printers. It was ordered that the contract of any printer in that county who was caught accepting rebates should be at once taken from him. The question of a storage house at Cadiz was discussed and several hundred dollars' worth of stock was subscribed.

Tobacco Men Well Pleased.

Tobacco men are much elated over the prices now being paid for the "weed" in Central Kentucky and look for an increase from now on. There has been at least 2,000,000 pounds already sold and delivered in Montgomery county at prices ranging from 8 to 12 1/2 cents, while in the adjoining counties raisers are easily disposing of their crops at 7 1/2 to 12 cents.—Frankfort State Journal.

PREPARING FOR NEW DUTIES

City Weigher M. W. Johnson Already Has His Star.

Market Master Frank Smedley today presented City Weigher Mendall Johnson with a big tin star measuring six inches in diameter and bearing in black letters, "Police, City of Paducah."

A councilman Monday night suggested a plan for economizing in the police department and suggested that the marketmaster, sewer inspector, city weigher and others be given police power and made to act as such whenever occasion demanded. This caused the marketmaster to have the star made and presented to the popular city weigher as a joke. City Weigher Johnson says he will wear the star with pleasure.

CRAZY ENGINE

FURNISHED CONSIDERABLE EXCITEMENT NEAR ROUND HOUSE.

Throttle Went Wrong and It Insisted On Getting In the Turn-Table Pit.

Switch engine No. 85, in the local I. C. yard service, went on a lark yesterday afternoon late and caused a great deal of excitement and some little damage at the round house. A defective throttle caused the trouble and for a time it looked as if the engine would be smashed up in the turntable pit, or the walls of the round-house crushed in, as the big engine plunged madly forward and backward.

The engine's throttle went wrong early in the afternoon and was run into the round-house for repairs. Steam was kept up, as the engine needed little repair work, when suddenly, without warning, the plug was blown out of the leaking throttle valve and the engine started back and ran into the turntable pit. The tender went in but the engine proper remained on the tracks.

The wrecker was called into service and Hostler Tom Heath was sent into the engine cab to apply steam and help get the tender out of the pit.

When the wrecker lifted the tender even with tracks Heath pushed the reverse lever forward, but did not know the throttle valve was leaking. The engine then started forward and nearly ran into the wall of the round house before Heath could set the lever back again.

As soon as he reversed the second time the engine went back into the pit. This performance was kept up for some little time until finally the engine went into the pit again and remained immovable. The throttle valve was plugged again and the engine lifted out by the wrecker. Necessary repairs were made and the engine is in service again today.

The accident occurred about 5 o'clock, but the engine was not lifted out before 9.

RURAL DELIVERY

KENTUCKY HAS NOT SETTLER THE AVERAGE NUMBER OF ROUTES.

Carriers Handled Over One Million Pieces and Cost Over Twenty Million Dollars.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Fourth Assistant Postmaster General DeGraw gives out some interesting data concerning the growth and extent of the rural free delivery service. It is shown that Kentucky has not a fair share of routes, and that out of 32,121, which were in operation at the end of the fiscal year only 564 were in that state. This number has increased to 620, but the quota is still far below what it should be. Indiana, for example, has 2,985 routes, Ohio 2,417, Illinois 2,655 and Iowa 2,215.

From the reports of rural carriers it is shown that more than one million pieces of mail were handled by the carriers during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1905, or, to be more exact, 1,387,037,711. The total amount paid the 32,055 carriers in the service was $22,293,590.91. Of this amount there was expended in the state of Nevada, with one carrier in the service, $720, and in the state of Illinois $1,676,964.70.

The total value of cancellations on mail originating on rural routes during the year was $3,121,357.01, and deducting this amount paid carriers, the approximate cost of carriers for that year was $16,871,733.90. The average cancellations per route per month was $10.84, twenty cents less than the average cancellations per route per month for the previous year.

Sycamore, which was swamped and sunk in the wind storm Monday. Reports from other sources, however, were that the boat had been pumped out, but the river had fallen and left it high on the bank and it will have to be pulled off now. It is now badly damaged.

IN THE COURTS

Circuit Court.

In the case of J. M. Ford's administrator against the street car company for $10,000 damages a verdict was brought in in favor of the defendant. Ford was killed by a car, owing to his being deaf.

The case of J. R. Cheatham against H. P. Hawkins, on an account, has been set for the 26th day of the term. The case of J. F. Nicholson against the Southern Mutual Investment company for alleged false arrest, has been set for the same day.

Tomorrow the cases against the Interstate Life Assurance company, of Indianapolis, Ind., on several suits asking the $500 forfeiture in cases of alleged rebating, will come up. At the last term of court the jury could not agree. Since then the court of appeals of the state has decided that a company is not liable for the acts of its agents when it is shown that his acts were without the company's knowledge and consent, and that in rebating the agent was acting contrary to orders.

This leaves the company, against which there are suits of this character amounting to fully $50,000 in the state, with nothing to do except prove that its agent acted contrary to orders if he rebated.

The damage suit of Former Police Captain Joe Wood against the News-Democrat for $5,000 damages for libel, was continued until April.

The demurrer to the petition in the case of G. H. Warneken against R. W. Green was overruled.

A motion with reasons for a new trial in the case of Cora McManus against the Paducah City Railway company was filed today. She was awarded $150 damages for personal injuries.

In the case of Elmer Collins against the E. Rehkopf Saddlery Co., a judgment for $190 was given by the jury this morning.

He was hurt by being thrown over a belt and suffered sprains and bruises on the shoulders and head. He sued for $4,000 damages.

The case of Earl Slater against the Mergenthaler-Horton Basket Co., was on trial at press time.

Slater sues for $10,000 damages for the loss of several fingers on the right hand cut off in a saw which the plaintiff claims was in bad repair due to the negligence of the defendant. Speaking was still in progress at press time.

Compromises Made.

The suits of E. G. Gilson and W. D. Pace against the street car company have been compromised for $400 each. The cases had been on the docket since 1902, when the plaintiffs while riding in a buggy at Twelfth and Broadway, got in the way of a car. They sued for $5,000 each and Pace got $1,000 on one trial, $500 on another and nothing on the third.

Suit on Note.

The C. L. Greene company has filed suit against W. D. Cline for $1,100 claimed to be due on a mortgage for mattress machinery, and asks that mortgaged property be sold. The petition states that the defendant is now in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Court House Improvements.

This morning paperhangers went to work papering the walls of the county judge's office and ante-room. Work of papering the county clerk's office has been completed and the painters are at work.

May Sue the City.

Strangers, and many citizens, in fact, are not used to the "stair steps" pavement on the west side of South Second street between Broadway and Kentucky avenue. The boards have never done anything to change the walk, and as a result the city may sooner or later have to spend much more in the way of damages than it would cost to alter the pavement. Mr. Z. T. Long, of Mayfield, who has been here conducting a soap sale, stepped from the pavement to the street a few days ago and sprained

Fitzpatrick's Cold Cream

Because of its unequalled qualifications as a cleansing agent for the face is rapidly gaining a national popularity.

The following letter from Miss Rose Cecilia Shay, the singer of international fame, is conclusive evidence of its excellence:

I have used the Fitzpatrick Cold Cream and find it delightful. It has my unqualified approval.

his left arm. Part of the pavement is about the ordinary height while the remainder is considerably higher than the street. Mr. Long is said to have employed attorneys to file a suit against the city for damages.

Police Court.

Will Roy, white, was this morning in police court granted a continuance until Thursday on a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses.

Roy is accused of stealing a portion of a diving suit from the Dry Docks Co., at the foot of Jefferson street and selling it to Ackerman, the second-hand dealer. The portion stolen is the lower part of the suit, the feet and legs, and is valued at $10. The article was missed yesterday and Officers Terrell and Cross found it in the second-hand store, where it is alleged Roy sold it for 50 cents.

Jim Bradshaw, colored, charged with housebreaking, waived examination and was held over.

H. Sulte, alias, Schultke, was held over in three cases charging obtaining money by false pretenses. He waived examination after two continuances. He is accused of passing three worthless checks in payment for clothes and board.

Other cases were:

H. Pleppo, white, breach of the peace, $10 and costs and recognized for $50 for keeping the peace in the future; Rufus Tucker, colored, breach of the peace, $5 and costs; Dan Campbell, colored, breach of the peace, $10 and costs; Charles Rogers, colored, petty larceny, continued; Jim Armstrong, colored, carrying concealed weapons, continued.

Bankruptcy Court.

A petition has been filed by creditors in the Moses Schwab bankruptcy case, asking that the wife, Mrs. T. Schwab, under whose name the business was run, be forced into bankruptcy.

The creditors allege that the stock was that of the wife and that the husband was merely manager of the store. This will bring up a very difficult point of law to decide, and Reference Magby has set Monday as the day for hearing proof and argument in the matter. The liabilities of the concern amount to more than $10,000.

A petition for sale of the stock in the case of C. J. Atwood and W. M. Smith, bankrupts, at Little Cypress, has been filed. Hearing has been set for the 27th.

Justice Broadfoot's First Marriage.

Justice Geo. Broadfoot's first marriage ceremony since he took his seat January 1st, was last Sunday, when he married Mr. Charles Edwards, and Miss Millie Wallace, prominent young school teachers of Oak Level, Marshall county, who came to Paducah to wed.

Waiting For Requisition Papers.

C. M. Levine, white, arrested here for alleged embezzlement in Chicago, is being held and Chicago officers will come after him as soon as they can procure requisition papers. Levine has signified his willingness to return without requisition papers.

Arrested For Breach of Peace.

Henry Sparks, white, of near Cecil, Ky., in the county, was arrested this morning by Deputy Sheriff Fortson for a breach of the peace and his trial set for Saturday before Justice Emery. He is charged with using loud and boisterous language, and gave bond.

Suit For Divorce.

Myrtle Boaz today filed suit for divorce against J. S. Boaz, alleging cruelty and inhuman treatment, and abandonment. The case was by agreement docketed and an answer filed.

Origin of Railway Whistles.

Locomotives, 75 years ago, had no whistles. The engineer kept by his side a tin horn, which he blew before curves and dangerous crossings. But the noise was feeble.

In 1833 an English farmer's cart was run down on the way to market, and 2,000 eggs, 100 pounds of butter, two horses and a man were lumped in one great onelet on the rail.

The railway had to pay the damages. The president sent for George Stevenson and said angrily:

"Our engineers can't blow their horns loud enough to clear the tracks ahead. You have made your steam do so much—why don't you make it blow a good, loud horn for us?" Stevenson pondered. An idea came to him. He visited a musical instrument maker, and had constructed a horn that gave a horrible screech when blown by steam.

From this horn the locomotive whistle of today descends.—Minneapolis Journal.

SPEAKER SAT DOWN ON LEGISLATORS

Who Wanted Bill Referred to Proper Committee.

Hall of Fame Bill Sent to Circuit Court Committee Instead of to One on Public Monuments.

LILLARD MAY NOT LOSE JOB

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 17.—An encounter between the speaker and the members of the house committee on public monuments and historical records was expected, but was averted by Speaker Lawrence peremptorily ruling any attempt to change his references out of order. The Alverson bill, introduced Friday and providing for placing the statues of Henry Clay and William Goebel in the Hall of Fame, were referred to the committee on circuit courts. Mr. Mulcahy, chairman of the committee on public monuments, and other members of the committee resented the slight.

Mr. Mulcahy moved to correct the minutes of Friday's session so as to refer the bill to its proper committee. Speaker Lawrence promptly ruled the motion out of order, and no appeal from his decision nor other fight was made.

It is said, however, that Mr. Mulcahy's committee will consider the bill and will report upon it regardless of the speaker's rulings. It was thought at first that the speaker had probably made a mistake in the reference of the bill, but that belief was dispelled when the absurd statement was made that he did not want to overwork any one committee. This statement was made not by Mr. Lawrence, however, but by one of his supporters.

For Consumptives' Hospital.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 17.—Dr. Leroy Smith, of Lexington, president of the recent anti-tuberculosis medical convention in Louisville, has arrived in the interest of a bill introduced to establish a sanitarium.

The bill has the cordial support of Gov. Beckham, and it is believed will become a law without difficulty.

It provides for an appropriation of $50,000 and annual expenses of $20,000, the home to be located on a 150-acre farm, the site of which is yet to be chosen. It will be governed by six trustees, to be appointed by the governor. It is primarily intended for poor persons who are unable to contribute to its support.

Lillard May Hold On.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 17.—It now looks as if Eph Lillard will hold his position as warden of the penitentiary despite all opposition. Although he was a strong Blackburn supporter, it is known that he would not have been retained if the Blackburn candidates for prison commissioners had been nominated by the Democratic caucus. In some manner he has rolled into the hand wagon.

Senator Henry George was flattered for the place, and both he and his friends thought he had it. If George makes much stir about it they will give him the wardenship of the Edwille penitentiary.

Gen. Percy Haly during all the political fight has remained the close friend of Lillard. If Lillard wins it will be because of Gen. Haly's influence.

A New County Proposed.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 17.—Representative Beard, of Ohio county, has his heart set on a plan to form a new county out of parts of Ohio, Grayson and Breckinridge. The surveys for the new division are now being made. According to the statement of Mr. Beard, who is on the republican side of the house, the new county will comply with all the constitutional provisions, having over 12,000 people, and at the same time leaving all the other counties from which slices are to be taken with the requisite number of inhabitants. It is planned to make Fordville the county seat. At present they are compelled to drive twenty-two miles to the county seat, and as Fordville has about 1,000 inhabitants, Representative Beard thinks this is quite a hardship.

No name has yet been selected for the county, but it is suggested that if Senator White does not renew his fight for a new county in the eastern end of the state, the prospective county he named for the governor.

Should the measure pass, the new county would be overwhelmingly republican and would make the Tenth senatorial district solidly democratic; the Eighth Judicial district solidly democratic; would increase the republican majority in the Seventh senatorial district, and would be joined with Ohio in the legislative district, increasing the republican majority there. It would also make Grayson and Breckinridge democratic, whereas they are now doubtful, Grayson generally going republican. It would not make any change, however, in the appellate court or the congressional district.

Proposed Change in Libel Law.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 17.—The following measure relating to the evidence and damages in actions for libel was introduced in the house yesterday by Representative Stewart, of Calloway county:

"Section 1. That in any civil suit for libel charging the publication of an erroneous statement alleged to be libelous, it shall be relevant and competent evidence for either party to prove the fact that the plaintiff requested retraction or omitted to request retraction. The defendant may also allege and give proof that the matter alleged to have been published and to be libelous was published without malice, and that the defendant within three days after receiving demand in writing to correct and to retract said statement, or within three days after the service of summons and complaint, if no such notice has been given to the defendant before the commencement of the action, did publish a sufficient correction retraction, explanation, or rectification in as conspicuous and public manner as that in which said alleged libelous statement was published in at least two successive issues of the same periodical publication. Upon proof of such facts to the satisfaction of the jury the plaintiff shall not be entitled to punitive damages, and the defendant shall be liable to pay only actual damages. And upon the publication of such correction, retraction, explanation or rectification, the defendant may plead same in mitigation of damages."

The bill is a combination of several measures on the subject, those having the matter in charge having taken the best features of each bill.

The Diamond Cure.

The latest news from Paris is, that they have discovered a diamond cure for consumption. If you fear consumption or pneumonia, it will, however, be best for you to take that great remedy mentioned by W. T. McGee, of Vanleer, Tenn. "I had a cough, for fourteen years. Nothing helped me, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which gave instant relief, and effected a permanent cure." Unequalled quick cure, for throat and Lung Troubles. At W. B. McPherson's Drug Store; price 50c and $1, guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

FINE OPAL.

Mr. A. M. Barnett Has One Said to Be Very Valuable.

Mr. A. M. Barnett, who is interested in minerals in adjoining counties, has perhaps one of the largest pieces of pure opal that has ever been seen here, at least it is the largest piece local jewelers to whom it has been shown, have ever seen.

The stone is irregular in form and was picked up out of an old Indian grave on the coast of Florida by Mr. Barnett's son many years ago and given Mr. Barnett lately as a souvenir. It measures one and a half inches one way, one inch another and is about three-quarters of an inch thick.

Experts have been shown the stone and say it is worth in the neighborhood of $1,500. Mr. Barnett carries it about in his pocket showing it to friends. He says he won't sell it for that amount.

Forced to Starve.

B. F. Leek, of Concord, Ky., says: "For twenty years I suffered agonies, with a sore on my upper lip, so painful, sometimes, that I could not eat. After vainly trying everything else, I cured it, with Bucklen's Arnica Salve! It's great for burns, cuts and wounds. At W. B. McPherson's Drug Store; only 25c."

$150,000 For A. & M. College.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 16.—The A. & M. College committees of the senate and the house went to Lexington today to inspect state college and investigate its needs.

It is understood that the college will ask for total appropriations amounting to $150,000 this year, and the committee wants to make a thorough inspection before allowing the appropriations.

The joint committee on appropriations of the two houses have been directed to go to Lexington as early as possible and investigate the needs of the Eastern Kentucky Lunatic Asylum for a new laundry to cost $10,000 to replace the one destroyed recently by fire.

A Surprise Party.

A pleasant surprise party may be given to your stomach and liver, by taking a medicine which will relieve their pain and discomfort, viz: Dr. King's New Life Pills. They are a most wonderful remedy, affording sure relief and cure, for headache, dizziness and constipation. 25c, at W. B. McPherson's Drug Store.

For Injuries Received

By IZOLA FORRESTER

Copyright, 1905, by T. C. McClure

"I am so sorry," said the girl. "Don't mention it," responded Stafford.

"Are you badly hurt? Can you stand up?"

Stafford made an effort to rise. It was curious. There was no particular pain, but so far as any usefulness or sense of feeling went he might as well have had no legs at all.

"I don't believe I can," he said. "It's awkward, isn't it? Did you run clear over me?"

"Oh, dear, I don't know! It was the snow, and I was in a hurry. I didn't even know that you were in the road at all until the machine hit you and jumped. It might have gone over you, just think if I had killed you?"

Stafford looked up at her with contented, speculative interest. He was lathered. His hat lay about a hundred feet down the road—at least what there was left of it. There did not seem to be much snow on his hair. He wondered if she had been holding his head in her lap.

"Don't think of it. It isn't pleasant. Anyway, it would have been my own fault if I had been. I was trespassing."

"Yes, that's just it!" cried the girl eagerly. "You know these are private grounds, and I never thought for a moment that there could be any one on the road. How did you get past the gates?"

"I didn't get past," replied Stafford calmly. "The person with the dog who guards the gates informed me that I couldn't get past, so I concluded not to argue with him. I walked down the highway until, or so and climbed over the stone wall."

"It's such a high wall."

Stafford laughed. Some vagrant lines reached to him from the Capitol orchard, lines about love's light wings and high walls.

"I didn't exactly climb over it. I tried the nearest tree and dropped over. It was very simple."

"Oh!" she looked down at him in a puzzled fashion. He hardly appeared to belong to the tramp genus, but his methods were decidedly tramp-like. "Did you want to see any one up at the house?"

"WE WANT YOUR VIEW ON THE STRIKE SITUATION."

"Well, I did," Stafford confessed cheerfully. "But they wouldn't let me in, so I was going back by way of the gates this time."

"The girl laughed a trifle nervously and drew on her gloves.

"They'll have to let you in this time, because I mean to take you back with me. Lift the gentlemen in, please, Andrew."

Stafford managed to suggest something about going to the hotel at Unionport—he would be all right there; he could wire to New York—when the chauffeur raised him, and with the rush of sudden agonizing pain there came a shuddering back into silence and darkness.

The silence remained when he found light again. It was very still. He looked lazily up at the yellow tinted walls, at the window next his bed. There were yellow curtains at it, and on the window sill was a jar filled with blossoming daffodils. They looked pretty in the sunshine. Stafford was so engrossed in watching them that he did not notice the girl standing at the half opened door until the nurse had left the room and she came to the foot of the bed and smiled down at him.

"Was it yesterday?" asked Stafford. She laughed.

"You have been had, haven't you? It was day before, day before, day before yesterday—last Tuesday."

Stafford stared steadily up at her. Last Tuesday! And he should have turned in the interview by Wednesday, as Curtis could hustle the illustrations.

"Did you wire to New York?"

"We couldn't. We didn't know where to wire. You're the prince here, you know. We don't know a blessed thing about you, who you are or where you came from. It's very interesting."

"So it is," assented Stafford seriously. "May I ask if Mr. Houghton has seen me?"

"Oh, yes! He came up the very first thing and said he thought you were all right. We didn't want a bathes, you know. One must draw the line somewhere. But papa said you were all right, so we kept you. Otherwise he would have sent you to a hospital and settled the damages with you later. As it is, you are here and have daffodils and—"

"No damages."

She laughed at him again.

"Oh, you might even collect damages in spite of the daffodils! What shall I tell papa you want?"

"Tell him I want an interview," said Stafford grimly. "And, say, will you please give me the pad and pencil in the inside pocket of my overcoat—no, the other side—thanks. Before he comes up."

When Houghton entered he gave the occupant of the bed a quick, direct look. The girl was behind him. Stafford punched another pillow back of his head and tried to sit up.

"Keep still," said Houghton. "Grace will take your notes for you. Is this what you came after?"

"Yes. From the Record-News, New York," Stafford fumbled weakly to get his old grip on the pencil. "We want your view on the strike situation. The elevated men went out Monday, and the subway followed them Tuesday morning. If the surface men go out it will tie up the whole town. It's by heads the committee of arbitration, but they say you are back of him and won't arbitrate."

Houghton opened his mouth to speak and shut it again as he looked down at the white, dogged young face on the pillows. When he left the room half an hour later Stafford held eleven pages of notes the girl had taken down for him. It was the broadest interview old Houghton had ever given out to any newspaper. Stafford smiled lazily at the daffodils and thought first of what Curtis would say and, second, of how the sunlight had danced and flickered around a certain girl's blond head as she sat by the window taking notes.

It was six weeks before he left Frankesmere. He had not noticed the time. It had been February when he had dropped over the stone wall. It was April before he wired the Record-News he would be back at work Monday.

Houghton went himself to the station with him. The two men had passed many a comradely ten minutes together during Stafford's convalescence, and it made things a little easier for Stafford as he told Grace and the promise he held from her.

"It's all right, Tom," said Houghton. "Nothing to say at all. I've got six of them married, and they've married everything from a broker to a duke. I am inclined to compliment Grace on her choice. You ought to see the rest of them, especially the duke. He's taxing me for damages yet. But about that interview, you left out one important feature. You wanted my views on the strike situation, didn't you, and you thought I was holding Bixby back on the arbitration?"

"Well, weren't you?" demanded Stafford. "My boy, that strike was arbitrated and settled and called off the night Grace ran you down with her note. But you can hold up your head in town all the same. That was the only interview I gave out, and it clinched Bixby's stand. So I guess your damages are about settled, eh?"

Stafford smiled, but he was thinking of a girl standing among the daffodils in the garden, her face upraised to his. "Settled in full for injuries received," he said.

Bent Her Double.

"I knew no one, for four weeks, when I was sick with typhoid and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Annie Hunter, of Pittsburg, Pa., "and when I got better, although I had one of the best doctors I could get, I was bent double, and had to rest my hands on my knees when I walked. From this terrible affliction I was rescued by Electric Bitters, which restored my health and strength, and now I can walk as straight as ever. They are simply wonderful." CHAPTER XVI.

SCORCIE was not so good as his word. So far from completing the bargain on the morrow, he never came near me, and I passed the day quite alone, save for the occasional visit of one of the Greeks bringing my food. I began to have a very unfavorable view of the situation. Scorie had been frightened off the arrangement he had contemplated by the fear of his compulsion, or if that were not so, though I was now quite prepared to credit it, he deemed it wiser to postpone the adventure still further. In which case I might still keep my home alive and furnish an exhibition of final success. But the truth was that each day lost was so much gained toward the accomplishment of Scorie's object, and even as I sat and gnawed my fingers and reflected in this doleful mood the treasure was fast leaving the castle, passing into the possession of alien and bloody hands.

There was yet another alternative, about which I could not make up my mind. Hood might have bought the allegiance of his traitorous associate, and if so, I wished them both joy of their bargain together. I would trust neither scoundrel beyond the reach of my arms or the mirth of my eyes, and I was pretty sure that neither would trust the other. Their mutual association rested upon a mutual compact of greed, and it was odds but, the gold once under their hands, they would fall out in some mortal strife, according to the ancient proverb. If that should happen, perhaps, according to the ancient proverb, we, as representing honest men as nearly as possible in the circumstances, might come by our own, or, speaking more properly, some one else's own.

For the present I had gained nothing, and lay, a disconsolate prisoner, in that dreary cell, guarded by watches of the Greeks. So far as I could determine, we, the defendants of the castle and the treasure, were in a bad position, and there was nothing for it on my part but to wait until with an evil grace might befall. I had already taken account of the defenses of my prison and saw little prospect of escape, but I will confess that throughout the first day of my captivity, I was somewhat under the influence of hope and hourly expected a conference with Scorie. This, as you may imagine, drew my attention from the immediate scrutiny of my surroundings, but upon the morning of the second day, when Scorie failed to visit me, I cast about for other means of escape.

First of all, I examined the barn very carefully. It was a huge building and rose at the apex to a height of fifteen feet or more. The sides were of wood, but the top was composed of a skeleton of rafters, thickly coated with thatch. Two windows alone in the room, one at the back part and away from the door, the other inserted in one of the remaining walls. The door was, of course, kept locked, but by screwing my face against the side window and craning my neck I could see the figure of a man on guard, evidently at the foot of the ladder. There was little chance of breaking out this way. The side window gave out a few feeble shafts of light, and beyond that there were the great trees and cool drops of the forest. It was securely barred and fastened, and that, from all appearances, quite newly. The second exploration seemed to offer no more encouragement than the first, but I was not yet resigned to defeat, and, sitting down upon the floor, I fell to thinking, mechanically opening a small pocket which was in my pocket, and perusing my mails.

I do not know if I were conscious of the act, but I remember that it was quite a long time, and when I had grown almost desperate in my counsels, that the advantage of this tiny weapon occurred to me. The wooden walls were not higher than six or seven feet, and above them, as I have explained, rose the superstructure of thatch to the pinnacle of the roof. I paused in my occupation and rose quickly. By standing on a chair I

Together we struggled on the morrow, could easily reach the ditch between the rafters, and without a momentary hesitation I plunged my knife into the mass of reeds. Sharp as a razor, the small blade cut through the straw at a stroke, with a slight rasping noise. My blood flowed in a strong stream of excitement. Here surely was a road to the outer air.

But this was a venture he essayed by night and after my jailers had retired for the evening; consequently I cut aside the knife and waited very impatiently for the fall of dusk. It was not until 10 o'clock at night that I dared to make my experiment. By that time my supper had been cleared, and the Greeks had been gone for an hour. The barn was in solid darkness, which was all the better for my purpose, and, getting upon my chair, I set to work at once among the straw of the thatch. If any one should come in from this point toward my adventure would be hopeless. I should stand confessed in my task and doubtless be doomed forthwith to a more secure and less comfortable prison. Therefore, the need of haste was the greater, and with fingers and knife I sheared through and tore under the thatch with the utmost celerity. The job was none too easy, and I sweated at the work, with my head buried under the debris of the straw and my throat choking with the dry and rotten stubble. Yet I had worked hard and fast enough to have opened a hole two feet through the thatch in a couple of hours. Through this the night lowered dark and somber upon me.

There was now no necessity for delay. Indeed, the necessity was all for instant action. I listened at the door and window for sounds of the sentry, but I could hear nothing. He might be asleep. At any rate, he lay upon the farther side of the barn, and I might barge to escape his notice by breaking over the stubble into the wood. Has nothing back, I got upon the chair and, pulling myself up by the rafters, gradually drew to the level of the hole. My head once outside, I breathed deeply of the purer air. Then, dragging up the rest of my body, I dropped gently to the ground beyond. It was a deep well like that I had anticipated, and I came down with a certain clatter, but, resting a moment in the shadows, I heard nothing. No alarm was raised. So, creeping to the stubble, I climbed softly upon the roof and clambered across the eaves in the direction of the forest.

Suddenly a small noise arrested me, and I could collect my senses to determine it a dark body crept round a corner of the roof and grappled with me. I seized it fiercely, resolved to do battle for my liberty with all the strength at my command, and together we rolled and struggled on the house-top. Then my opponent gave a shrill whistle, and the next thing I was conscious of was the grasp of a fresh pair of arms from behind. After that I gave it up, more especially as we had rolled to the edge of the roof, and a renewal of the struggle would send us over into the yard with broken limbs and bloody noses.

"If some one will take his foot out of my stomach," I said, "I will descend at the yard."

At that the tension upon me was relaxed, and I was pushed forward roughly to what appeared to be a trapdoor in the roof, down which I climbed, first brusquely from above. Here I found myself in a small loft above the stalls of the stable. My captors followed, and one of them struck a match, when the light fell upon Hood's face. From that familiar and sinister countenance my eyes glanced about me to several figures in the half light. I saw at once what had been my undoing, for this loft was used as a dormitory for the Greeks, and the noise of my passage along the roof had evidently alarmed them. At a gesture of the men, I was seized and thrust into a cell.

Dr. Miles' remedies cure by their strengthening and invigorating effect upon the nervous system, and not by weakening the nerves.

"I consider that there are no better remedies than Dr. Miles' Nerve, Anti-Pain Pills, and Nerve and Liver Pills. We have used them for years, and recommended them to many others. My wife is using the Nerve, and considers it the best medicine in the world. A lady friend of mine, who was almost a total nervous wreck, through my earnest solicitation has used several bottles of the Nerve, with wonderful results."

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first package will benefit. If it fails, he will return your money. 25 doses, 25 cents. Never sold in bulk. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

Eminent Doctors Praise Its Ingredients.

We refer to that boon to weak, nervous, suffering women known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. John F. Fife, one of the Editorial Staff of THE ECLECTIC MEDICAL REVIEW says of Uniform root (Helonius Dolei) which is one of the chief ingredients of the "Favorite Prescription": "A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator. It makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system. It continues to Helonius we have a medicine which more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent." Dr. Fife further says: "The following are among the leading indications for Helonius (Uniform root). Pain or aching in the back, with leucorrhea; atonic (weak) conditions of the reproductive organs, mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women, constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys; menorrhagia (flooding), due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system; amenorrhea (suppressed or absent monthly periods), arising from or depending upon an atonic condition of the digestive organs; and anemic (thin blood) condition; dragging sensations in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid woman can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of the leading ingredients of which is Uniform root, or Helonius, and the medical properties of which it most faithfully represents.

Of Golden Seal root, another prominent ingredient of "Favorite Prescription," Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says: "It is an important remedy in disorders of the womb. In all catarrhal conditions, and general infestation, it is useful."

Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati, says of Golden Seal root: "In relation to its general effects on the system, there is no medicine in use about which there is such general unanimity of opinion. It is universally regarded as the tonic useful in all debilitated states."

Prof. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, says of Golden Seal: "Valuable in uterine hemorrhage, menorrhagia (flooding) and suggestive dysmenorrhea (painful menstruation)."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription faithfully represents all the above named ingredients and cures the diseases for which they are recommended.

from Hood two of these bullets seized my arms, and I was forced to descend the ladder to the ground. I protested against this treatment, saying that I had given my word not to attempt to escape, and I suppose some sign passed from Hood, for the men suffered me to proceed unmolested, keeping, however, upon either side of me. We entered the building now, but to thrust into some dismal cellar, there to rot and fester until such time as my jailers were pleased to deliver me. To my surprise, however, I was taken into an inner parlor of the barn, where I was left to myself, the Greeks turning the key in the door as they retired. No word had been uttered upon their side throughout the scene. They moved like automata at the beck of the keeper. A lamp was burning on the table, which was covered with a green baize tablecloth, and the little window looked upon the road, where the sign of the Woodman, with his uplifted ax, was swinging gently.

Immediately afterward Scorie entered, with Hood upon his heels. "I regret, Mr. Greentree," said the adventurer, "that you should have so small a notion of us as to try this game."

"It very nearly came off," I answered.

Pleasant and Most Effective.
T. J. Chambers, Ed. Vindicator, Liberty, Texas, writes Dec. 25, 1902: "With pleasure and unhesitatingly, I bear testimony to the curative power of Ballard's Horehound Syrup. I have used it in my family and can cheerfully affirm it is the most effective and best remedy for coughs and colds I have ever used." Sold by Alvey & List.

HOSPITAL BOARD.

Satisfied With the Appropriation Made in Ordinance.

"Yes, we are satisfied with the appropriation made for the city hospital," said Dr. Frank Boyd, today. "We find it sufficient to operate the hospital very satisfactorily. The hospital has a very good revenue from the private wards and patients, and this patronage is growing all of the time. People are coming to it from many of the West Kentucky towns every week, and its fame is spreading rapidly. An evidence of the good work done there is the case of Eula Warren, the little girl from Callaway county, who was bitten by a dog supposed to be mad. The father of the child wanted to take her to Chicago for treatment, but Dr. Bass, the city physician, induced him to leave her at the hospital. He did so and she was dismissed as cured in a week."

Impaired Digestion.
Means less nutrition and in consequence less vitality. When the liver fails to secrete bile, the blood becomes loaded with bilious properties, the digestion becomes impaired and the bowels constipated. Herbine will rectify this; it gives tone to the stomach liver and kidneys, strengthens the appetite, clears and improves the complexion, infuses new life and vigor to the whole system, 50 cents a bottle. Sold by Alvey & List.

One liberal and one labor candidate were returned to represent New Castle in the House of Commons by net gains of 7,000 as shown over the previous election.

CHANGE IS EXPECTED

IN LICENSE ORDINANCE IN CASE OF INSURANCE COMPANIES.

There Are 74 Companies and They Net Considerable Revenue to the City.

The protest from the fire insurance agents against the license ordinance was referred by the council to the ordinance committee and the city solicitor with instructions to bring in another ordinance covering this feature, and it is probable that the former license fee of $50 will be charged instead of the four per cent. of the gross business of the companies, as embodied in the new bill.

"Four per cent. is exorbitant," said an agent today. "It is all right for the little companies doing only $1,000 to $1,200 business a year, but it is too much to ask from the companies doing more. In Covington it is 2 per cent. with a minimum of $20, in Lexington and Newport it is about the same. The business written by the companies last year aggregated $120,000, and with a 2 per cent. this would, with the minimum of $30 charged the companies doing a small amount of business, bring the city a good revenue. The way the business is increasing, in a few years the revenue would be much greater. Five years ago the total premiums were $75,000, while last year they were $120,000."

Some of the council are in favor of making the license $50 for each company, the same as last year. There are 74 companies in the city and this would bring in $3,700 a year.

Rev. Charles P. B. Martin, L. L. D. Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing a medicine for throat or lung trouble." Sold by Alvey & List.

NO BATH

In the Shape of Laere For Mental Pain and Anguish.

St. Louis Mo., Jan. 15.—Among opinions handed down by Judge Plisher yesterday was one sustaining a motion of the attorneys for the defendant in the suit of George W. Nickle against the Illinois Central railroad company for $1,999. Nickle asked that amount for "mental pain and anguish caused by the careless handling by the railroad's employees of the remains of Mrs. Edie Nickle," the plaintiff's wife.

Mr. Nickle filed his suit August 23 last. It set forth that he and Mrs. Nickle had been married for twenty years, living much of the time in St. Louis. Mrs. Nickle died in Beza, Miss., on August 14, 1902. The remains were placed in a metal coffin, and this, in turn was in closed in a strong wooden box. The box was then given to the Illinois Central for transportation to St. Louis. When the train reached Memphis, Tenn., the outer box was broken open by being run into by another train, it is alleged, and Mrs. Nickle's body was so exposed to the elements that when it reached St. Louis it was badly decomposed. Because of this, the husband alleged, he was compelled to forego arrangements made for the funeral and provide a hasty burial without funeral rites.

Cured Lumbago.

A. B. Cannan, Chicago, writes March 4 1903. "Having been troubled with Lumbago, at different times and tried one physician after another, these different ointments and liniments, gave it up altogether. So I tried once more, and got a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment, which gave me almost instant relief. I can cheerfully recommend it, and will add my name to your list of sufferers." Sold by Alvey & List.

To Marry a Kentuckian.
Starkville, Miss., Jan. 17.—Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Shearer, of Starkville, Miss., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Frances Longstreet, to Arthur Lee Shelbourne, of Hardwell, Ky. The marriage will take place at the Methodist church, Starkville, Miss., Feb. 7.

DANGER IN DELAY

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous For Paducah People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in Paducah.

Mrs. M. S. Smith, residing at 323 Jefferson street, says: "I have complained of kidney complaint for a number of years. It dated back to 1884. I suffered with a very distressing weakness of the kidneys which annoyed me day and night. There was often a dull pain across my back over the kidneys. It was these complaints which induced me to get Doan's Kidney Pills. After taking the treatment for a short time I noticed a great change in my condition and the improvement continued steadily. TWO ORDINANCES

Given Final Adoption at Called Meeting of Council.

The councilmanic board held a called session last night with all the members present except Councilman Louis Kohl, who is ill.

Acting Mayor Oscar Starks stated that the meeting was called to give final passage to the apportionment ordinance and the license ordinance, and the council then passed both ordinances, leaving them ready to be considered by the board of aldermen, which meets tonight in called session, and tomorrow night in regular session.

The two ordinances constituted the business before the board.

FIFTH STREET MAY BE PAVED THIS YEAR

Great Deal of Street Reconstruction Would Be Cheaper Now

The Work Already Contracted for Will Be Started About April 1st.

THE BOARD OF WORKS MEETS

The board of public works will hold its regular weekly meeting this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. There is nothing before the board but the regular business.

When asked by a Sun representative what the board would do with the allotment made for the streets by the council, a member of the board said: "We shall go as far and do as much as we can with the $18,000 given us, but we don't think it sufficient by any means. When the appropriation runs out we shall ask for more, and if we cannot get it, the work will have to stop."

Work on the Jefferson street and Kentucky avenue improvements will not be started until the first of April. Mr. G. W. Ingram, of the Southern Bitulithic company, of Nashville, whose company has the contract for the work, was in the city last week and told the board of works that he would ship his material here March 1st, but active work would not start until about April 1st.

Under an ordinance of the city, the streets cannot be torn up for improvements or extensions except from April 1st to November 1st of each year.

The board is desirous now of having Fifth street improved with bitulithic from Norton street to Trimble. It will be a good deal cheaper to have the work done while the other bitulithic streets are being built, as the plant will be here then, which is a great saving. Even if this work is left until next year, the board thinks it advisable to let the contract this year for the same reason. The sewers can be extended out through the west end this year and Broadway from Ninth to Fountain avenue improved next year with bitulithic, at the same time Fifth is being reconstructed, in the opinion of the board.

"If the city has no money to make these improvements," said a member of the board today, "we can make arrangements with the Southern Bitulithic company to take the city's notes payable in one, two, three, four and five years, bearing six per cent interest, and pay them off out of the street appropriation each year."

The board will probably adopt a new policy with references to repairing the streets after they have been torn up for any purposes by contractors. Heretofore the fills have been made in a slipshod manner, in most instances, and in a few weeks there is a depression where the work was done. Hereafter the board intends to repair these places with stone and gravel and charge the expense to the contractor or parties responsible.

City Engineer L. A. Washington has prepared estimates on the pavements and curb work on South Second street, from Broadway to Kentucky avenue, and will present them to the board for ratification. The board ordered him to figure the estimate for Contractor Baldwin, who is to do any changes or repairs to the work. The estimates had been in some agreement

COLD BLOODED

WAS CRIME OF NEGRO ARRESTED HERE.

Major Galtner Held Without Bail at Earlinton, Ky., For Violent Murder.

Major Galtner, the negro arrested here last week by Detective Will Baker, and taken to Earlinton, Ky., to answer to a charge of murdering Scott Holeman on Christmas, has been held without bond. The Madisonville Hustler says of the case:

Galtner's crime was 'one of the most cold blooded in the history of the county and the sentiment against the negro is strong. From all the stories told by the witnesses immediately following the tragedy the shooting of Holeman was entirely unprovoked, and was done in the most cowardly and dastardly manner. Galtner, who had had some words with Holeman about money he claimed he owed him, openly asserted, so it is said, that he would secure a gun, go to his home and kill him. Several people to whom he told his plans attempted to dissuade him, but he brushed them aside, secured a revolver, and, going to Holeman's home, fulfilled his threat. He poured the lead into his victim at close range, resulting in almost instant death. It is said by some of the witnesses that Galtner did the shooting while Holeman's aged mother had her arms thrown about her son appealing to Galtner not to fire and even attempting to throw herself in front of her son as a shield. Galtner has a bad reputation and has been in jail here before once for assaulting a boy and a time or two for gambling and other minor offenses.

Holeman bore a good reputation in Earlinton. He was a coal miner, married, and in addition to supporting his own little family gave assistance to his aged mother.

This Is the Latest Theory About Missing Mayfield Man.

Mayfield, Ky., Jan. 17.—Mrs. Mary Johnson, from the latest information she has received from her husband, J. P. Johnson, who mysteriously disappeared from his home November 22, at Hickory Grove, is of the opinion that his mind has become affected and that he has wandered into some strange land. She has been reliably informed that her husband was in Paducah a few days before Christmas and those who saw him state that he was acting strangely as if he was deranged. He is said to have passed through Mayfield about that time, having told some one that he was going to Fulton. Nothing later has been heard from Mr. Johnson. Mrs. Johnson is yet using all efforts within her power to locate her missing husband.

CONSULTING ROOM

Has Been Established at the County Jail By Jailer Eaker.

Jailer James Eaker is fitting out another office in the jail, which will be known as the private consulting room.

The room on the south side of the jail formerly used as a kitchen has been divested of furniture and is being repaired by plasterers and will be nicely papered. The kitchen was moved to the small tin outhouse formerly used as a storeroom for provisions. This will give the jailer a private office and also a sleeping room for his night deputy, who will remain at night at the jail.

Business at Joppa Indicates What An Advantage C. & E. I. Would Be Here

As an indication of the prominence of Joppa as a shipping point, and what it would mean to have the C. & E. I. railroad extended to Paducah is the position this little town has assumed as a tie and lumber shipping point.

WANT A HOME

For a Bright, 12-Year-Old Girl—Good Work of Rev. and Mrs. Chiles.

The railroad company is bringing over 100 empty cars to Joppa every day now and has demands for every one of them. It has not, as has been the case at Brookport, with the Illinois Central, had a scarcity of cars at any time this season.

"You would be amazed to see the business done at this town," said Capt. John McCandless, of the Standard Tie Co., to a Sun representative today, "and it would take just one day to show any Paducahan what the extension of the road to this city would mean. Our company is shipping 20 cars a day and we are only one of five companies shipping ties. Then, too, there is as much lumber shipped from Joppa as there are ties. Together, these two items are a big thing for the C. & E. I."

The Dick Fowler and the Clyde today had big shipments of peanuts and lumber for Joppa, which is an other indication of the importance of the town as a shipping point.

Rev. and Mrs. P. W. Chiles, of the Gospel Rescue Mission work have in their care a 12-year-old girl, for whom they are anxious to secure a good home. They have been instrumental in securing homes for a number of friendless children, which is a most commendable work.

Mr. Chiles is now out soliciting subscriptions to purchase the property on South Third street now used for the Mission, and will be glad to receive all contributions, however small or large. The Rescue Mission is doing a work in the city that the churches cannot reach, and should have a generous encouragement. It would be a great advantage to own their hall, and Mr. Chiles has the opportunity now to secure the valuable property very cheaply, and have liberal assistance.

TO HAVE SCHOOL

IN ROWLANDTOWN AS SOON AS ONE CAN BE SECURED.

The Board of Education Very Anxious to Provide the Proper Facilities.

The people of Rowlandtown are clamoring for a public school building, and the school board is trying hard to give them one. The city owns a lot on the Cairo road, down by the old magazine just north of Trimble street, and there is a building containing two rooms which the county owns which the officials have been trying to purchase and bring down to the city's lot to answer until the board has funds sufficient to erect a good building.

"This building would answer our purposes for some time," said a member of the board today, "but when we had about completed arrangements to buy it we found that it was incumbered in some way and this will have to be arranged before the city will buy it. You can tell the people of that locality we shall give them a building as soon as we can, however. They need it and must have it, but we have to go slow owing to the lack of funds."

The amount received from the state this year for the city schools will be but little, if any, more than last year. The census last year only showed an increase of 100 for some unaccountable reason, and as the allotment is based on the census there will likely be but little increase.

The salaries of the schools are about $1,500 a month now, $1,000 more than a few years ago, and the board will find itself in debt at the end of its fiscal year, June 30th. It will receive $35,000 from the city and $20,000 from the state. Last year it received about $32,000 from the city and $20,000 from the state.
